

Sculpting and Shaping Sound

Moving beyond the basics of playing your Native American Flute

Facilitator – Terry Mack, Intuitive Player of the Native American Flutes and Owner of Peaceful Spirit Flutes

February 23, 2013 – 1:00 to 4:00 PM

Terry's home – South Nanaimo

Address will be provided at time of registration

Registration Fee - $50.00

Terry Mack has been playing and teaching the Native American Flute since 2006. Her CD, Wild Threads by her duo Wind Weaver was nominated for the Best Instrumental CD of the year in the 2010 Vancouver Island Music Awards.

In this playshop Terry will help you break out of your normal patterns of playing and explore the many ways in which you can “sculpt and shape the sound” you create through your Native American Flute.

The playshop will cover:

- Embellishments
- Controlling your breath
- Creating simple structure so your song flows
- Playing with another flute player, percussion or back tracks
- Listening - Perhaps the most important part of playing is understanding listening
- Fingering patterns
- Additional scales to help you explore the variety of sounds and songs you can create with your Flute

Tea, coffee and a light snack are included.

Registration is limited to six people, to ensure everyone gets an opportunity to play and learn the techniques

To register or for more information contact

Terry at 250-740-0473 or email: terry@peacefulspiritflutes.com